

CCPA Category of Personal Information Table/Matrix Disclosure

The CCPA requires that we disclose the categories of PI collected, sold and shared for a business or commercial purpose during the past 12 months.

The disclosure includes a table listing the 11 categories of personal information required by the CCPA. Each category of PI is listed and associated with a letter (A-K) in the left column and further explained in the right column. For example, categories of information that are “identifiers,” such as your name or driver’s license, are indicated as having been collected, sold or shared in the three subsequent tables when the “A” column has a “yes” in it.

Categories of Personal Information
A- Identifiers	Identifiers such as real name, alias, postal address, unique personal identifier, online identifier, IP address, email address, account name, SSN, driver’s license number, passport number or other similar identifiers.

* The Auto Club receives a monetary benefit when members use their AAA credit card which is offered to members through our partner as a member benefit. Such arrangements help to keep annual membership dues low. For purposes of the CCPA this could be considered to be a “sale” of personal information. Our partner can only use your information to offer you the credit card unless you enroll and become a cardholder. In this instance, information shared with our partner’s marketing service provider should include name, membership information, contact information, and date of birth. Information would not be sent for those who had requested to not be solicited.

We would have disclosed Personal Information (PI) for a business purpose to the types of 3rd parties as shown below.
